THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

TABLE THE ORDINANCE DEFEATED-THE SUBJECT TO GO BACK TO THE COMMON COUNCIL, ETC., ETC.

Pursuant to adjournment, a meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held in the Council chamber yesterday evening, commencing at 6 o'clock, to consider the proposed ordinance concerning the Fire Department and other matters. Mr. John A. Meredith (president) occupied the chair. Present at rollcall: Messrs. Bass, Beall, Forrester. Kellam. Lipseomb, Manly, Scott, Smith, Spangen-burg, Tanner, Todd, Wagner, Williams, and

The Chair announced that the first business in order would be the consideration of the proposed ordinance concerning

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT. When the Board adjourned on Monday evening it had under consideration the second section and an amendment proposed to ry engine, bose, and apparatus, keep them in it by Mr. Todd, which provides that the repair, prescribe a uniform, and make all number of fire companies shall not be increased or diminished during the year. Mr. Carrington stated that there was au-

Mr. Todd explained that he meant no reflection on the committee or the Council when he made the statement that there was not full authority for the establishment of this company, but he could not understand how it could be construed otherwise when B. Stuart, in Hallywood Cemetery, the ordinance provides that there shall be six captains paid, and we know that seven commanders were paid after the Tenth-Street company was put into service. Mr. Todd next addressed himself to the amendment under consideration. The Chair inquired whether there was an ordinance fixing the number of captains. Mr. Todd replied that the fire ordinance and the ordinance fixing the pay of the captains of companies settled that matter. Mr. Carrington argued that under the ordinance it would be impossible for the Fire Committee to equip and put into service any additional companies than those now in service, because it would require an expenditure of money and building of enginehouses, which would have to be furnished by the Council. He thought that the Chief of the Fire Department ought to be unrestricted, and that the committee ought to fendant in error, and submitted. have the necessary power to sustain the

Agreed to-ayes, 10; noes, 7. Mr. Kellam moved further to amend the second section so as to provide that the chief engineer, two assistant chief engineers, and commanders shall be elected by the Council

Mr. Carrington opposed the amendment on the ground that the committee was more competent to select good men than the Council. Mr. Kellan didn't agree with him. He thought that the Council was fully equal to the task of selecting the officers.

Mr. Manly agreed with the gentleman from Monroe Ward in all that he had said as to the importance of rigid discipline in the department, but he thought the appointment of the officers ought to be made by the Council.

Mr. Williams alluded to the mean, slimy tricks of politicians. Already he had been approached; but be desired it to be distincty understood that he was opposed to the Council as pointing the officers. He hoped the reporters would so record him.

Mr. Kellam addressed the reporters, and wanted to be recorded as being opposed to testants for the design of the National Lithe committee appointing these officers. The Chair: The gentleman must address

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

ADDRESS OF THE STATE COMMITTEE.

The following address was issued yester day by the Republican Committee of the State:

To the Republican People of Virginia: At a meeting of the State Central Committee of the Republican party of Virginia held at Richmond, Va., January 18, 1876, it was ordered that a'Convention of the Republican party of the State be called to be held at Lynchburg, Va., on Wednesday, April 12, 1876, at 12 o'clock M.

It will be the duty of this Convention to select two delegates from each of the congressional districts and four from the State at large to attend the National Republican Convention to be held at Cincinnati June 14th, 1876; also, to choose two electors for the State at large and one from each Congressional district of the State; to form State Central and State Executive Committees of the party, and to do such other work as to it shall seem appropriate in preparing the party for the presidential campaign of the present year.

The basis of representation in this Convention is that of the lower House of Delegater, as fixed by the State Constitution : provided that each county is to have one delegate, and the city of Richmond six dele-

The committee further directed, in order to secure a full, free, and fair representation, that the delegates to said Convention shall be chosen uniformly on the fourth Saturday in March at the respective court-houses of the different counties, and in the wards of the several cities, except in the city of Richmond; and the fourth Monday in March is fixed as the day for the selection of the delegates in said city. Under this call each of the counties and cities of the State will be entitled to the following number of delegates: [See Code, page 76.1 The attention of the Republicans of the several counties and cities is respectfully invoked to this call, and they are earnestly urged to see to it that every county and city is properly represented. By order of the committee. RICHARD H. CARTER, Chairman.

J. R. Popham, Secretary.

AN IMPOSTEE .- A stranger was in the city esterday trying to swindle our merchants. He visited Messrs. Choffio. Staples & Co., and represented himself to Mr. Staples as an opicion by trade. He said that his name was Staples, and that he was in very destitute circumstances; that he had come here from Nova Scotia, and was taken sick upon his arrival in Richmond, about two months since; that now he and his little girl, whom he represented to be a child of about six years of age, were about to be ejected from their boarding house by the landlord because he could not pay his board. His story was a sad one, and although well told, the reasons he assigned for not obtaining work and the way he proposed to make three dollars a day if he could only get materials to work with, aroused Mr. Staples's suspicions, and he at once made inquiries of several opticians as to the truth of some of is statements, and found that the adventurer had visited them before him, and to each had represented himself as bearing the same name as themselves.

The Texas and Pacific Railroad.

Washington, January 26 .- The arguments before the House Committee on Pacific Railroads showed that vital interest is felt by the South in the Texas-Pacific enterprise. Judge Kennard, of Louisiana, and Mr. Folsenbeld, of San Diego, both took the ground that a competing line to the Pacific, which would be controlled by Congress, was an absolute necessity, and rather than have the and calling upon the friends of liberty to road built so as to extend the present monopoly they would prefer to be without the line. Judge Kennard made an able address and impressed upon the committee that the question was one above and beyond all constitutional and all political questions.
